

Information Bulletin

Brazilian Import Legislation – Further update

On 29th January 2009 the Brazilian Government agreed to suspend the Import License requirement for product classified under the Harmonised Tariff chapter 73, including, amongst other things, clamps, circlips and steel tubes. However, the Brazilian Government continues to closely control imports of grease. Therefore, an Import License is still needed prior to shipment for automotive grease, which is classified under tariff headings 34 and 27.

GKN Freight Services will keep you informed of any further developments. Please do not hesitate to contact us if you have any further queries.

4th February 2009