

Information Bulletin

France – Heavy snowfall causes disruption

Severe snowfall in France which started this morning, is causing traffic disruption. This is expected to continue over the next few days, as snow is anticipated to fall all day long until Saturday morning.

Météo France has forecast between 3 and 5 cms of snow in some areas of France today and this is already having a huge impact on traffic. Delays to truck delivery could occur due to weather conditions with 50 departments in France on Orange Alert. Furthermore, the Directorate General of civil aviation (DGAC) said to expect delays in Parisian airports because of falling snow.

GKN Freight Services will keep you informed of any further developments. In the meantime if you have any concerns please do not hesitate to contact us.

17th December 2009