Further Update – Transport Strike - Spain

Various Trucking Company Associations have had negotiations with the Spanish Government. After today's meeting the position is as follows:

FENADISMER, which represents approximately 10% of Spanish trucking companies, are going to start to strike on Sunday 8th June at 24:00.

CETM, which represents approximately 70% of Spanish trucking companies, are not going ahead with a strike and will continue to negotiate with the Spanish Government.

Today, 6th June, there has been some strike action in the Catalonia area (including La Jonquera on the border with France), and in some areas bordering with Portugal. New negotiations with the Government will take place on Monday 09/06.

GKN Freight Services will keep you informed of further developments. In the meantime, please do not hesitate to contact us if you have any questions.
