Further update: Metal workers strike may impact on Vigo port

Although metal workers from the Naval sector are on strike today there have been only minor disruptions to the traffic in Vigo. Currently the port is open but it could be closed briefly depending on where the metal workers take action.

GKN Freight Services are closely monitoring the situation and updating affected customers. If the strike goes ahead we shall inform you accordingly. However, if the situation remains the same we shall not send out further updates. If you have any queries, please do not hesitate to contact us.
