Possible Transport Strike in the Basque Country

There are strong rumours of possible transport strike action in the Basque region of Spain for tomorrow 21st May 2009. If the strike goes ahead, all movements in Bilbao port will be affected.

At this stage we are not sure if our transport in the area will be affected but we will be monitoring the situation and will keep you informed of any further developments. In the meantime, please do not hesitate to contact us if you have any further queries or concerns.
