Transport strike in Spain – latest update

Negotiations continued throughout the night between the Government and the strikers. It is reported, that whilst there may soon be some movement of freight, major delays are expected due to the backlog of vehicles.

There is some speculation that the strike is over, however, it appears that it is still active in certain regions. GKN Freight Services are liaising with all transport partners to ensure that collections are being managed as efficiently as possible.

Please rest assured that GKN Freight Services are monitoring the situation and will keep you informed of any further developments. Please do not hesitate to contact us if you have any questions.
