Update - Icelandic volcanic disruption

Please be advised that the situation has not yet improved. All major airports are still closed with further reports that ash now appears to have reached Canada.

All airfreight to the USA, Asia & South America from Europe has not departed over the weekend (except for Spanish exports). Many countries are using Spain as a hub / departure point to South America and the USA. This could lead to further impact on cargo moving via Spain and ultimately result in delays.

GKN Freight Services are liaising with any customers directly impacted. Please do not hesitate to contact us if you have any further queries.
