Winter storm cancels flights in Chicago

Midwest America was yesterday the latest target of a snow storm with wind chill warnings of up to 35 below zero in some places. Airlines prepared for blizzard-like conditions by cancelling more than 300 flights from Chicago's two airports. More snow, strong winds and colder temperatures are expected.

These weather conditions may cause disruption to our service. Please be advised that GKN Freight Services are monitoring the situation closely and will keep you informed of any further developments. In the meantime if you have any questions please do not hesitate to contact us.
